To Move Water from Lake to Reservoirs

Discussed at Joint Board, Council Meeting

Decide to Rebuild Retaining Wall to Hold Water for Pumps

The city council and the water and sewer board have acted to move water down from Lake Harrisburg to the city reservoir.

The matter was discussed at a joint meeting of council and water board members Monday night and by the council at its regular meeting yesterday afternoon.

It was decided to rebuild the retaining wall at the reservoirs to hold the water so that it can be pumped into the ponds near the city after hearing a report by Commissioner Sneed Jordan, who with Cecil Wren, water board member, made an inspection along with Amos Doom, superintendent of the water and sewer department.

The council also accepted 40 acres of land, which Paul Halbersten has offered to the city. This is land in the area of the Conzo pump, which is up Middle Ford creek from the reservoirs.

To Hold Water for Big Pumps

Jordan's report revealed that both the Conzo pump and the pumping station at the reservoirs had been considered as spots from which to pick up lake water. However, he said, a dragline would have to be moved nearly a mile through wilderness to clean out the Conzo basin for a suction line and the cost would be pretty high.

Too, he said, there is only a six-inch line from the Conzo to the reservoirs and although the city could keep up with its water consumption by using the Conzo, a sizeable surplus could not be built up.

He said he thought it more feasible and cheaper to reconstruct a small retaining wall, three and a half to four feet high in the center, to hold the water for the bigger pumps at the reservoir to pick up.

Jordan also pointed out that the water must be let out of Lake Harrisburg at a time when rains were not sending water down Bankston creek, as bad water from coal mines would contaminate the good lake water.

Doom explained the work that would be done at the dam. He said that four-inch boiler tubing would be driven into the creek, and boards fastened to make the retaining wall. Sandbags could be placed in front of the wall to keep the creek from cutting out.

Consider Filter Unit

Doom estimated the material needed would cost between $200 and $250.

Possible means of building one additional filter at the water treatment plant was discussed. The city was ready to advertise for bids for two filter units but soon saw they could not finance such a project. Now they are considering one 300,000 gallon per day unit, hoping that they can get the money for it. With what is left in the Lake Harrisburg bond issue, the council talked of asking the house which bought the bonds at the time the city bought the water system from CIPS if an adequate amount of money can be taken from the depreciation fund to go with what is on hand to build the unit.

It was decided to watch the water department's operating fund until spring, and if the balance seemed to be sufficient, efforts would be made to use depreciation fund money and funds on hand to build the one unit.

Right now the city has three 300,000 gallons per day filter units, which means that 900,000 gallons of water can go through the filters each 24 hours. The city's use ranges from about 850,000 or 875,000 at the lowest level in winter to about 1,250,000 at its peak in the summer. That means the treatment plant is running far over capacity during the hot summer months. The one additional unit would give the plant a capacity of near peak proportions.

Carl Tuttle Named To Harrisburg Water And Sewer Board

Carl Tuttle is a new member of the Harrisburg Water and Sewer board, it was announced at yesterday's city council meeting.

Mr. Tuttle will fill out the term of the late Gus Syers. Appointment was made by Mayor Claud Gibbons.

Mr. Tuttle was the commissioner of streets and alleys during the past city administration.

Truman Discloses He Did Not Know of A-Project Until He Became President

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman disclosed today that he had no inkling that the mammoth wartime atomic energy project even existed until the day he became President, four months before history's first A-bomb explosion.

Not even then was he immediately told in detail about the world-changing development which had been concealed from him for years while he was senator and throughout his brief service as vice president.

Subsequently, the new President, who was to bear the responsibility for ordering the atomic destruction of Hiroshima, was assured by a close military adviser that the A-bomb would "never go off."

This and other revelations about his early feverish days as President were recorded by Mr. Truman in his memoirs, publication of which began in Life magazine.

Austrian Princess, 15, Weds German Prince in Glittering Ceremony

VENICE, Italy (AP) — A 15-year-old Austrian princess was married today to a 31-year-old German prince before a glittering assemblage that almost recreated the court of Kaiser Wilhelm.

The princess was Virginia Ira Furstenberg, daughter of a millionaire Italian motor magnate whose family dates back to the Holy Roman Empire. The prince, a racing enthusiast, was Alfonso Maximilian Hohenlohe-Langeburg.

They rode to the 16th century Church of San Sebastian in gondolas along canals freed of traffic by her father, Prince Tassilo Furstenberg, who paid the business houses along the route to shut up shop for the day.

A Who's Who of European nobility watched in the ancient Church of San Sebastian as the bride, too young to drive the Mercedes-Benz sports car her bridegroom gave her for a wedding present—said "I do."

Kiwanians to Observe Kids' Day Saturday

Members of the Kiwanis club will observe National Kids' Day Saturday and will sell special Kiwanis peanuts downtown all day that day to raise money for the club's program for boys' and girls' activities. Kiwanis clubs across the nation annually sell peanuts on Kids' day to raise funds for their youth projects.

Club members will be downtown early and will devote the entire day to the sale of the peanuts. They ask the public to be generous in contributions to the club's various activities such as the summer baseball program which has provided recreation for boys during the summer months.

The program last night at the meeting held at the Masonic temple was devoted to Gold Star Mothers, and Mrs. Anna Lutwinski and Mrs. Thomas Cain were especially invited guests. The address was by Sen. Glen Jones who paid respect to Gold Star Mothers and stated no one can give a greater gift to the nation than the Gold Star Mothers who have given up their sons. "They are truly the greatest citizens this nation has," he stated.

"We cannot call the world civilized as long as its leaders can civil their young men into combat with each other. And now with the atomic and hydrogen bombs, the world is in position to destroy itself if we cannot control war."

The only alternative to total destruction is peace and the Gold Star Mothers are living reminders for us to make brotherly love a part of our civilization," Sen. Jones stated.

Mrs. Mabel Roeth, Community Concert representative, was a guest of John L. Schork, who is a Kiwanian and also president of the Harrisburg Community Concert association. Mrs. Roeth stated this week is being devoted to renewal and to new memberships in the concert association and urged Kiwanians to support the local organization.

Among the former President's disclosures were:

1. He once regarded James F. Byrnes, now his bitter political enemy, as the man "best qualified" to succeed him in the White House.

2. He started Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov in his first two weeks as President by giving the Russian diplomat a "sharp" lecture for breaking the Yalta agreement on Poland.

Written in his familiar homespun style, Mr. Truman's memoirs relate his struggle to recover from the "terrible blow" of Franklin D. Roosevelt's death on April 12, 1945, and grasp the reins of government at a crucial point in American and world history.

At a news conference in Kansas City about the memoirs, written under contract with Life for $600,000, Mr. Truman said he dedicated them "to the people of all nations."

Attorney Attacks New Divorce Law

CHICAGO (AP) — An attorney charged Tuesday that Illinois' new "cooling off period" divorce law is unconstitutional.

Sol R. Friedman said the law deprives his client of her rights to an immediate remedy by law and is discriminatory and class legislation.

Friedman filed a writ of mandamus seeking to force the Circuit Court clerk here to accept a divorce complaint without waiting 60 days after serving of a summons on the defendant as prescribed by the new law.

The divorce action involves Mrs. Mae Doty, 41, a bank clerk, against Richard Doty, 42, a floor covering salesman.

Only 648 youths sign up for new training plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Only 648 pre-draft age youths have signed up so far for the Army's new six-month military training plan which begins Oct. 3, a United Press survey showed today.

The plan is a key part of the administration's military reserve program enacted under the Selective Training and Service Act of 1948 and aimed at building a 2,900,000-man ready reserve fighting force.

Despite the admittedly slow response to the plan, Asst. Defense Secretary Carter L. Burgess told a reporter "I am not dismayed or discouraged." He said enlistments will pick up when the armed services step up their campaign of "selling the program."

But Burgess admitted the Army probably won't be able to meet its goal of 5,000 youths actually in training under the plan by the end of this year. Many of those who have signed up will delay training until next year.

The Army hopes to have 90,000 youths in the plan by June 30, 1956.

Under the plan, a 17 or 18-year-old can volunteer for the Army reserve, and take six months active duty training, followed by 7½ years in the ready reserve. This frees him from the possibility of a two-year draft, which is now followed by a compulsory three years in the ready reserve.

Ready reserve training requires attendance at 48 weekend drill sessions and two weeks summer training, or 30 days summer training, each year.

The Marine Corps announced Tuesday it would accept enlistment of 5,500 pre-draft age youths in the Marine Corps reserve under the six-month plan between now and June 30. The Air Force and Navy do not plan to use the plan.

Myrtle indicates she will try for TV $64,000

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. Myrtle Power, baseball's new Georgia peach, untangled herself from half a dozen good luck charms today and indicated she would shoot for pennant money on TV's "The $64,000 Question."

Myrtle, bolstered by a four-leaf clover, an Indian head penny, a turkey wishbone, an Oriental statuette, a lucky necklace and a jade ring, reached the $32,000 level on the giveaway show by swatting her way through a baseball query.

Next week, the bouncy 70-year-oldster from Buford, Ga., can retire with her winnings or try to double them.

But Myrtle left little doubt she would go all the way. She revealed that she already was casting around for an expert to bring to the CBS-TV program next Tuesday. Under the rules of the show, Myrtle can tote in a helper if she decides to go for the big question.

Myrtle wore her lucky dress, a black silk number, for the third time on the show. She said she would wear it again next week.

"A ballplayer doesn't change his underwear during a winning streak," explained Myrtle. "So I'm not going to change my dress."

The question pitched at her dealt with the seven ballplayers who collected more than 3,000 hits during their major league careers. Myrtle was asked to supply the six aside from Ty Cobb, the old Georgia peach.

"Cap Anson, Tris Speaker, Hans Wagner, Eddie Collins, Nap Lajoie," she said and then added, "Paul Waner."

Find Ransom Bill

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — A $20 bill identified as part of the Greenleaf ransom money was discovered by an employee of the Federal Reserve Bank here, FBI agent-in-charge Cal Howard said today.

Hurricane Ione Dies at Sea; Hilda Spreads Havoc

Whole Villages Are Swept Into Gulf of Mexico

By United Press

Hurricane Ione veered into the North Atlantic to die today, but her older sister Hilda spread death and havoc through Mexico.

Hilda swept whole villages into the Gulf of Mexico and engulfed the port city of Tampico with a devastating flood. There were 99 counted dead and hundreds missing. Mexican officials conceded they will "probably never know" how many hundreds of persons died.

In the United States, a hurricane threat was lifted from large areas of the East Coast as Ione swept into the North Atlantic and began breaking up. It left a path of destruction through North Carolina, at least six persons dead, and 75 million dollars in damage.

Elsewhere in the country, storms swept through the northern and central Plains on the heels of a cold front. The worst blow roared through the carnival area of the Tri-State Fair at Amarillo, Tex., Tuesday night. Twelve tents collapsed and from 75 to 100 persons were injured, 3 seriously.

Los Angeles, meanwhile, awaited the second smog alert in two days. City and county authorities were feuding about who was responsible for smog control, with one city councilman accusing the county air pollution committee of "trying to pass the buck."

In the nation's midsection, wind gusts clocked at 55 miles per hour at St. Joseph, Mo., and Lemon, S. D., got a dousing of 1.79 inches of rain. Widespread thunderstorms were reported early today as far east as Iowa and Minnesota.

Early snows whitened the higher peaks in the Colorado Rockies, while the South sweltered in a 90-degree heat wave.

Jesse Farley, 67, Dies at Eldorado; Funeral Thursday

Jesse Farley, 67, 2004 Main street in Eldorado, died at the home of his son, Jack Farley, 809 Park street in Eldorado, at 1:30 a. m. today. He was a retired coal miner.

Survivors include his wife, Jessie M. Farley, and the following children: Jack, Mrs. Audie Koker, James and Mrs. Chester Gollmer, all of Eldorado, Mrs. Clarence Williams, Ridgway, Mrs. William Frazier, Harrisburg, and Mrs. Eugene Powles, Hammond, Ind.; one sister, Mrs. Markie Humes, Tamaroa, Ill., and three brothers, Dan Farley, Salem, Ky., Oliver of Charleston, Mo., and Harley Farley, West Frankfort; 26 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

The funeral will be Thursday at 2 p. m. at the L and N Grove Holy Bible Mission. Rev. Lawrence Gibson will officiate and burial will be in Frankfort Heights cemetery in West Frankfort.

The body has been taken from the Martin funeral home to the home of the son, Jack, to lie in state until funeral time.

Transfer Case To County Court

The city today transferred its case against Jones Winston, charged with illegal sale of liquor, to county court.

Winston was charged with illegal sale in police magistrate court following a raid by city officials on his place more than a week ago.

The transfer of information was filed against him in county court for action there. The information was filed upon complaint of Chief of Police Ross Lane.

Tough-Talking Gunwoman Leads in Bank Holdup; Believed Bandit Queen

DANFORTH, Ill. (AP) — Police believed today that the tough-talking gun woman who led the $15,000 holdup of the Farmers State Bank here was the notorious "Queen Maggie" O'Connor of Chicago's underworld.

The woman matched the description of the 38-year-old bandit queen as she ordered her male companion about Tuesday with the authority shown by Mrs. O'Connor in other holdups.

"Queen Maggie" heads the list of wanted criminals in Chicago and is believed to have engineered almost 100 robberies in the past year. Police say she is the leader and brains of a gang of accomplished holdup men.

The man and woman walked into the small town bank shortly before closing time. They whipped out pistols and the woman snapped "We want the dough."

Gray-Haired Uncle of Slain Boy First Witness at Murder Trial

SUMNER, Miss. (AP) — A gray-haired Negro who gestured dramatically with toll-worn hands told a hushed court today that one of the defendants on trial for slaying his nephew came for the boy with a "pistol in one hand and a flashlight in the other."

Mose Wright, 64, was the first prosecution witness at the murder trial of white half brothers J. W. Milam and Roy Bryant, accused of shooting and beating to death 14-year-old Emmett Till of Chicago on suspicion of whistling at Bryant's pretty young wife.

The testimony phase of the trial got under way two days after the sensational case reached the circuit courtroom in Tallahatchie County, named for the river that meanders through the Mississippi farm country.

From the waters of the river, the body of young Till, weighed down with a heavy piece of machinery, was removed Aug. 31 to stir up one of the most dramatic race incidents in recent years.

Dist. Atty. Gerald Chatam called Wright as the first witness and suddenly the crowded courtroom, its spectators buzzing with conversation until that moment, was quiet.

The elderly man told the jury about the events at his home three miles from the community of Money, Miss., early on the morning of Aug. 28.

"Uncle Mose, what time did you and your family go to bed?" Chatam asked.

He said it was about 1 a. m., because they had been visiting late. About 2 a. m., he said, there came a knock at the door.

"Preacher, preacher, this is Mr. Bryant and I want to talk to you and the boy," Wright told the jury. "I got up and opened the door."

"Who was at the door?" the district attorney asked.

"Mr. Milam was at the door with a pistol in his right hand and a flashlight in the left."

The Negro said he did not recognize the man with Milam at the time but he aimed a pointing finger at the co-defendants before him and said both Milam and Bryant were the two who made the nocturnal visit.

Wright said Milam and Bryant told him "I want the boy that did that talk at Money."

Wright said Milam and Bryant took young Till to a car which had no lights and drove in the direction of Money, the small settlement where the wolf-whistle incident occurred.

Stress Need of Funds to Keep S. A. Post Here

Faced with the possibility of losing the Salvation Army post here, volunteer workers are formulating plans for the Army's annual drive for funds which will assure the townspeople that the post will remain and be in good financial condition.

A meeting was held last night by Salvation Army Citizens Advisory Board members, Lt. and Mrs. Andrew Sands, corps officers here, and Atty. John W. Biggers, drive chairman.

Also present was a representative from Eldorado, who will secure an outstanding citizen of that community to work to keep the Salvation Army in Saline county.

Another meeting will be held at 7:30 p. m. Monday to set up the chairman of the various committees for the fund campaign, to be held early in October.

During the past several years the Salvation Army drives have been falling far below the quota. In fact the money has not been near enough to carry on the work. For months the St. Louis Division headquarters have been sending money to Harrisburg to keep up the work and the officers there have their eyes on this 1956 fall campaign to see whether the response is great enough or not to keep the officers here.

Comprehensive plans are being worked out for this year's drive with hope that they will materialize, so great is the need for adequate funds.

Advisory board members present at last night's meeting were Charles D. Taylor, Dr. John Slightom, Wendell Bramlett and Mary Richards.

Counter-Claimant Wins Judgment

A counter-claimant won a judgment in circuit court yesterday. He was Arthur Duncan, who won his counter-claim from the plaintiff, John Chavis.

The lawsuit, heard by a jury, resulted from a motor vehicle collision. Chavis, represented by Atty. Jay B. Stringer of Mt. Vernon, filed suit for $140 for auto damage.

Then Duncan, represented by Atty. Charles R. Jelliffe, filed a counter-claim, asking for damages of $192.68.

The jury, after hearing the evidence, awarded Duncan the $192.68 plus costs.

Judge C. Ross Reynolds of Vienna presided during the trial. With the termination of this trial, court is ended here for the time being.

Gen. Lonardi to Head Gov't with Three Others

Peron Ordered Surrendered To Stand Trial

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Argentine rebels won unconditional surrender today from the ruling generals who took over power from fallen President Juan D. Peron. A new provisional government takes over Thursday.

Gen. Eduardo Lonardi was named to head the new government, an official announcement broadcast over the state radio said.

An earlier announcement said the ruling junta of 14 generals "accepted all conditions made" by the rebels.

The announcement made no mention of Peron, but one of the rebel conditions was that he be surrendered to them to stand trial.

Peron still was aboard the gunboat Paraguay in Buenos Aires harbor to which he fled Tuesday. Technically, on board the ship, he was on Paraguayan territory but the rebels have announced they would not let the Paraguay sail with Peron on board.

Warships Block Harbor

The pier near which the gunboat was anchored was under heavy guard and rebel warships blocked any exit from the harbor. Expected to rule with Lonardi were three others named with him earlier in a revolutionary provisional government.

They were Rear Adm. Isaac Rojas, aboard whose flagship in the River Plate estuary the surrender terms were reached in an eight-hour conference ending at 2 a. m. today; Gen. Leon Bengoa, and Gen. Audelino Bergallo.

Bergallo was the only remnant of the 14-man junta which took over from Peron after Peron was forced to resign on Monday.

The junta had named Bergallo director of national safety and it was his forces that clashed bloodily with Peronist hoodlums in the center of Buenos Aires early today.

Lonardi is a long-time opponent of Peron, known to have been against him since 1950.

In 1951, while commander of an army division at Santa Fe, he plotted against the government but was so cautious that another general moved in and tried to take over the revolution for himself. The revolution was a failure and that general was sent to a Patagonian prison for life.

Lonardi was retired from the army at Peron's order.

He is married to a member of a devoutly Catholic family of Cordoba. His wife's brother, Villada Achaval, is a leader of the church lay movement in Cordoba.

An earlier announcement read over the state radio denied there had been any outbreak of new hostilities.

Smoke still rose this morning from the darkened rubble that had been the headquarters of the Alianza Libertadora Nacionalista Party whose members clashed in a bloody struggle with government troops and police early today.

Harry Norman, 69, Prominent Marion Businessman, Dies

Harry Norman, 69, prominent businessman of Marion, died suddenly at 3:20 Tuesday afternoon at the Missouri Baptist hospital in St. Louis. He was the owner and proprietor of the Hotel State in Marion.

Mr. Norman had been a patient at the Missouri Baptist hospital for some time and was thought to be recovering. Plans were for him to return to his home today.

The body is at the Mitchell funeral home in Marion and funeral plans are incomplete.

Jack Benny Named Honorary Chairman Of National Ass'n for Retarded Children

Word was received today by the Saline County Association for Retarded Children that Jack Benny, CBS television and radio star, has accepted the post of Honorary Chairman of the National Association for Retarded Children, according to an announcement of Martin W. Papias, of Philadelphia, president of the organization. Mr. Benny will also serve as chairman of National Retarded Children's Week, which will be held this year from Nov. 13 to 23.

The national association represents more than 400 local affiliates in communities throughout the United States. Its program is to bring help to retarded children through research, education, and services.

In commenting on Mr. Benny's participation, Mr. Papias said, "I appreciate the great contribution you are making in serving as our honorary chairman, and as chairman of National Retarded Children's Week. This is a service to nearly 10 million people, including five million children and adults affected by retardation, their parents, and brothers and sisters. Retarded children can be helped through contributions such as yours and the many reached by you."

"Your support will generate real enthusiasm among the more than 50,000 members and workers in this association. It will evoke the deep appreciation of the countless families to whom this cause is so vital and means so much. Our most urgent need is to broaden the base of public understanding and support and your efforts will bring to millions of Americans the message that retarded children can be helped."

Mr. Benny plans to work actively as chairman. He will serve as master of ceremonies on a special nationwide television show in which he is enlisting the services of other well known television and screen personalities. This is scheduled for broadcast during the middle of November.

Mr. Benny in accepting the dual appointments noted that mental retardation was a serious national problem. "President Eisenhower has called upon his fellow Americans to support the work of the National Association for Retarded Children," Mr. Benny said. "It is estimated that three hundred mentally retarded are born every day in the United States. These children can be helped. This has been abundantly proved, but widespread public support and understanding are required. One after another of the major health problems have been overcome, but in every instance it was where there has been participation by a large segment of the population. There is no reason that the cause, cure and prevention of mental retardation among children should not be found. It is a cruel and tragic handicap."

Mr. Benny is also planning to attend the annual convention of the National Association for Retarded Children at Houston, Texas, Oct. 13, where he will be the featured speaker at a dinner.

Seek 3 Women As Suspects in Kidnaping Baby

SAN FRANCISCO (U. S. P. S. S. R. Press) — Police hunted three women today in the belief that one may be the kidnaper of 4-day-old Robert Marcus.

All fitted the description of a person believed to be the abductress, a heavy-set blonde who speaks English with an accent.

One of the suspects was reported seen in Novato, 30 miles north of San Francisco and the other at San Jose, 50 miles south. The third was a nurse's aide whose child was stillborn.

The San Jose woman's actions aroused immediate suspicion. She went to the home of Mrs. Henrietta Guerrero Tuesday and asked if she could heat a four-ounce bottle for her baby.

Mrs. Guerrero, noting that the woman was not carrying a change of diapers for the crying baby and did not have a purse, permitted the husky blonde to warm the bottle but notified police as soon as she left.

The child refused to take the bottle. Mrs. Guerrero said. The kidnaped baby, son of Dr. and Mrs. Sanford Marcus, had been breast-fed until he was taken from Mt. Zion hospital last Monday.

Mrs. Guerrero said the woman told her the baby was 18 days old but she said the infant appeared only 4 or 5 days old.

The second suspect was reported by Mrs. Ruth Haughan at Novato. She said the woman's companion stopped at her home to ask directions to Point Reyes, another small community in the county.

While the man was asking directions, Mrs. Haughan said, the woman was sitting in a ramshackle car holding a crying infant in her lap.

Officers also searched hospital records and found the name of a woman whose infant was stillborn and whose description matched that of the suspect.

U. S. to Join Britain in Opposing Debate on Cyprus

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. — The United States announced today it would join Britain in opposing a United Nations debate on the future of the Mediterranean island of Cyprus.

The Cyprus issue was slated to become the center of a major dispute that threatened to strain Western unity as the General Assembly's steering committee met to decide upon the agenda for the 30-nation world parliament. Greece, demanding a plebiscite to decide whether Cyprus should join the Greeks, has put the island issue up for the agenda. Britain opposes the choice and the matter will come to a head in the steering committee.

Equally tough decisions remained to be made, a U. S. spokesman indicated, on the issues of Morocco and Algeria, debates on both of which are opposed by France, and of Dutch-held west New Guinea, claimed by Indonesia. The spokesman said Washington's position was undecided.

Safety Experts Disagree on How To Control Speed

WASHINGTON — A panel of automobile safety experts agreed today that speed is a highway killer, but disagreed on methods to control it.

The experts also agreed the pokey driver is as much of a menace, if not more so, than the high-speed motorist.

The roundtable discussion was a highlight of the 53rd annual convention of the American Automobile Assn. here.

The AAA has adopted a policy favoring flexible speed limits, depending on highway conditions, rather than a fixed maximum speed applied to all highways at all times. Joseph E. Havenner, manager of the AAA's public safety department for southern California, said the chief problem is to define safe speeds on various types of roads. He pointed out that in California the new freeways have the highest speeds but the lowest record of fatalities.

Phil C. Johnson, of Mooresville, Ind., member of the Indiana Legislature, denounced speed law enforcement by justices of the peace and so-called "speed traps" as a "bad thing all the way through." He said the system of "J. P. courts," in which the justice of the peace receives part of the motorist's fine, "is a very, very serious problem."

World Scientists Study Plan to Trigger Four Earthquakes

TOKYO — World scientists are studying a plan to trigger four earthquakes with atom bombs next year in an effort to learn more about this cause of major disasters, it was reported today.

Leaders of the International Geodetic and Geophysical Union propose that the blasts be set off in the United States, Russia near Australia and in the Pacific Ocean near the newspaper Asahi said.

The resulting vibrations would be measured by scientists all over the world and the information coordinated so that man can learn more about the structure of the earth's crust, the behavior of earthquakes and measures against them.

Democrats to Investigate Blocked Air Force Pact to Lease Radar Equipment

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democrats, leveling new "big business" charges against the Republican administration, today promised an investigation of a blocked $2,400,000,000 Air Force agreement to lease secret new radar communications equipment from private firms.

Comptroller General Joseph Campbell has warned the Air Force it had no authority from Congress to make such contracts. His ruling, made public Tuesday by House Democratic Leader John W. McCormack (Mass.), means that no federal funds can be spent on the project.

But the Air Force said later

Lie Awake Last Night?

Woman Gives Birth To Record Sized Twins in Family Auto

CHICAGO (AP)—St. James hospital officials said today that the largest twins on record in the United States were born Sunday in a family automobile.

Mrs. Anne Fuehrmeyer, 24, gave birth to the twin girls just as her car reached the hospital courtyard. One of the girls, Mary Jane, weighed 8 pounds, 14 ounces, and the other, Nancy Anne, weighed 8 pounds, 1 ounce.

510 in Race For 130 State Police Jobs

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—The field was down to 510 today in the sweepstakes for 130 new state police jobs.

The 1955 Legislature increased the size of the state police force from 500 to 600 men. This created 100 new jobs plus 30 vacancies on the 500-man force to be filled.

Duane L. Traynor, technical consultant to the State Police Merit Board, said 2,025 applicants for these jobs were told to appear in Springfield or Chicago for written examinations, the first step in filling the posts.

"About 1,295 of them showed up," Traynor said. "They were weighed, measured and fingerprinted the same day they took the exam."

"The papers have been graded and 510 men made a high enough score and met the weight and height requirements," he said.

The next step, Traynor said, will be oral interviews before the board and background investigations of the candidates' reputation and character.

Interviews for downstate candidates will be held the week of Sept. 26 at Springfield, and for northern Illinois men the week of Oct. 3 at Chicago.

From the field of 510, Traynor said, the board will accept about 150 or 160 candidates to attend three four-week police training sessions, to be held at the state fairgrounds in Springfield.

The first session will wind up before Christmas, Traynor said, and the second will start in January, the third in February.

Candidates will be selected for the first, second and third training sessions on the basis of their scores in the various examinations, Traynor said.

"We hope to get 150 men qualified," he said, "though of course, we always lose some in the academy."

Each of the three schools will accommodate about 50 men. Thus, Traynor said, all successful finishers of the first two schools will be appointed to the force.

"Only in the last school will there be any juggling for appointments," he said. "The men who qualify beyond the 130 presently needed will be placed on the eligibility list for future openings according to their standing in the school," he said.

The new state police officers will be paid $325 a month to start and annual raises will bring patrolmen to $360 a month.

Rites Thursday at Carrier Mills For Burl D. Ryan

Funeral services for Burl D. Ryan, husband of Bertha May Ryan, a former Carrier Mills man who was accidentally shot and killed Thursday, Sept. 15, in Salvage, Calif., will be tomorrow at 2 p. m. at the Carrier Mills Methodist church. Rev. R. W. Robling, West Frankfort, former pastor, will officiate, assisted by Rev. Carl Davis, pastor, and Rev. J. Evetts of Glendale. Burial will be in Salem cemetery in Carrier Mills.

He also leaves four children: Lloyd Maurice, Billie, Judy and Rita.

The body arrived from California yesterday morning and now lies in state at the Thornton funeral home in Carrier Mills.

Herrin Voters Reject Water Bonds

HERRIN, Ill. (AP)—Herrin residents have voted by a margin of about 2-1 against a proposed bond issue to improve the city's water and sewer systems.

A special election was held Tuesday and only 972 voted "yes" while 1,909 voted "no" on the $957,000 bond issue.

The bonds would have financed enlargement of Herrin's water plant, made improvements in a pipeline and increased the capacity

Rules Only Licensed Veterinarians May Be County Inspectors

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Atty. Gen. Latham Castle today issued an opinion that only licensed veterinarians can be named by county boards as rabies inspector and deputy rabies inspector.

In an opinion asked by Macon County State's Atty. Kenneth B. Evans, Castle said the Illinois Rabies Control Act also requires counties to hire personnel to carry out the act, such as dog catchers; and that police and sheriffs are required to cooperate in carrying out the act.

Westbrook Reaffirms Illinois Position on License Reciprocity

CHICAGO (AP)—Illinois today renewed its warning that cancellation of its reciprocity agreement with Ohio would force it to require all Ohio autos and trucks to bear Illinois license plates before they could enter this state.

Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter said an aide, William B. Westbrook, reaffirmed the Illinois position at a meeting of state motor vehicle law administrators in Rockland, Maine.

Under reciprocity agreements, states agree to exempt vehicles of other states from the payment of special license fees. Ohio wants to collect an "axle-mile" tax from all trucks, in spite of present reciprocity agreements which don't provide for collection of this tax.

$799 Million Loss On Price Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department lost a record $799,001,464 on farm price support programs last year.

It said today that as of June 30, end of the 1955 fiscal year, the government had another $7,069,277,000 tied up in price support operations — over $1,000,000,000 more than a year earlier.

The previous high loss-year was fiscal 1954, when the government went into the red by $419,477,074.

The June 30 investment of the department's Commodity Credit Corp. was made up of $2,087,814,900 in outstanding support loans on crops, and $4,971,463,000 worth of crops in federal ownership.

FROZEN OUT?—The romance is reportedly off between Great Britain's Princess Margaret and Group Captain Peter Townsend, above. "The People" a London newspaper, quoting circles close to the royal household, reports that Townsend has been told "any expectations he may have entertained about marrying the princess cannot be fulfilled." He's shown in his most recent picture as he arrived recently at London Airport.

Russian Apology Reluctantly Accepted by U. S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has now reluctantly accepted Russia's apology for the improper conduct of a pistol-packing Russian officer who threatened Rep. Joe Holt (R-Calif.) in Moscow on Aug. 31.

The State Department previously had branded Moscow's reply "unsatisfactory." It said today that a new U. S. note delivered to the Soviet Foreign office Tuesday "noted" Russia's apology and a promise that the officer would be disciplined for threatening Holt at pistol point.

Child Strangles Between Bed and Wall

GARY, Ind. (AP)—Two-year-old Tyrone Acoff was strangled between a wall and the rail of a double-decker bed Tuesday while romping with two young brothers.

The child was bouncing on the top bunk of the bed with his brothers, Michael, 5, and Kenneth, 4, while an 18-year-old baby-sitter washed dishes in the kitchen.

Michael and Kenneth told the baby-sitter that Tyrone was sleeping. She went into the bedroom to find the little boy hanging from the bed. The parents were working at the time.

All men are born free—but it's the football players who go through college that way.

Police Ask East St. Louis Mayor to Close Night Club

EAST ST. LOUIS (AP)—Mayor Alvin G. Fields today considered a police request to use his power as excise commissioner to close the Terrace Lounge night club operated by Frank (Buster) Wortman, reputed rackets boss in the area.

In a letter to the mayor, Police Commissioner Russell Beebe said the police department has had nothing but trouble with the night club and suggested that Fields revoke the club's liquor license on the grounds that the place is a public nuisance.

Supercarrier Begins Sea Trials

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. (AP)—The supercarrier Forrestal began pre-commissioning sea trials today.

Six tugs pushed and pulled the 60,000-ton vessel away from its berth at the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Co. and then escorted her through the combined waters of Hampton Roads on her way to sea.

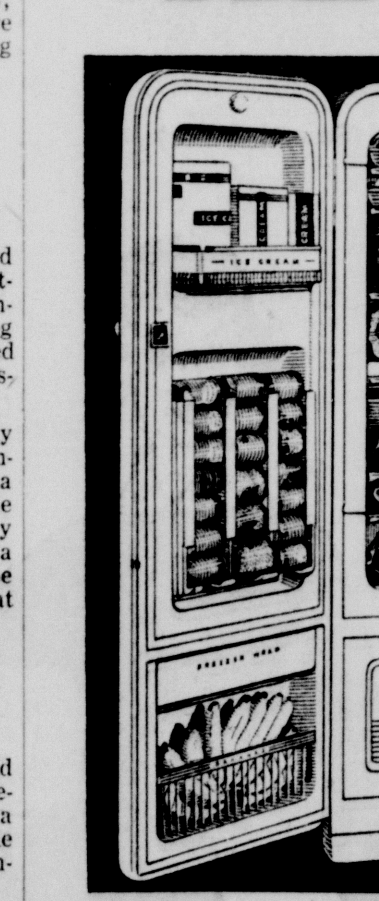

Once outside the Virginia capes the mammoth ship will start a series of tests of its main engines, electronic gear, and auxiliary equipment.

She was expected to return to port late Friday or Saturday.

IN THIS CORNER—Rocky Marciano, left, defends the world heavyweight championship for the sixth time against Archie Moore at Yankee Stadium tonight.

Marciano 4-1 Favorite to Beat Moore Tonight; See Bigger Gate

NEW YORK (AP)—The "boner" postponement that sends Rocky Marciano and Archie Moore into the ring tonight for their heavyweight championship fight left the odds unchanged at 4-1 but may boost the gate toward $900,000.

With the weather aid lifted by a forecast of "cool and fair," officials of the International Boxing Club figured today's rush of ticket buyers might swell the crowd at Yankee Stadium to 70,000. Fresh sales were in the ratio of nearly 5-1 to refunds.

Despite challenger Moore's nervousness during Tuesday's physical examination and the general belief that the 24-hour delay would bother him more than the "ice-cold champion," the betting price remained stable.

Unbeaten Marciano and the 38-year-old light heavyweight champion were slated for another physical exam today, but they need not undergo the ordeal of another weigh-in.

Their respective trainers pointed out that the weights Tuesday—Rocky 188½ and Archie 188—were about what was expected.

Many boxing men figured promoter Jim Norris had "pulled a prize boner" Tuesday when he deferred the fight 24 hours, because of a bad-weather threat that never materialized. He announced the washout at 10 a. m., but less than an hour later the skies were clearing and Hurricane Ione veered out to sea. It was the first time an important title bout had been postponed before the weigh-in.

Norris denied any boner. He explained: "I would do it again. We had no choice. Forecasts from all weather bureaus—government, Navy and flying fields—were hopelessly gloomy. And we were being bombarded by railroads and air companies for instructions whether to start their special flight trains and planes for New York."

Before the box-offices reopened this morning, Norris said the ticket sale was slightly more than $700,000. He expected a rush today and until fight-time tonight at the stadium for medium-priced $20 and $30 tickets. In addition, 8,000 general admission $5 seats will go on sale at the stadium at 7 p. m.

Tonight's starting time was set back 15 minutes to 10:45 p. m. to avoid conflict with the regularly scheduled Wednesday night home TV scrap between middleweights Bobby Dykes and Georgia Johnson at Miami Beach.

There will be no home telecast of the Marciano-Moore bout, but it will be broadcast nationally over ABC networks and to several foreign countries.

Picking the Grid Winners IN THE Sport Parade

By OSCAR FRALEY
NEW YORK (AP)—Fraleley's Follies and the weekend football "winners"—with a switch from lone to hurricane Rocky.

Game Of The Week
UCLA over Maryland — But don't think it will be easy. Maryland, which will be playing at home, was looking a week ahead when it was almost upset by Missouri. However, the Uclans weren't showing anything as they coasted up to this one, either.

The East
Baylor over Villanova — Joe Louis had the line.
B. U. over Penn State — Billy Conn talked big.
Navy over W&M — That was boxer vs. bomber, too.
Pitt over Syracuse — Louis summed it up.
Army over Furman — "He can run, but he can't hide."
Also: Brown over Columbia, Penn over VPI, Colgate over Dartmouth, Cornell over Lehigh, Holy Cross over Temple, Princeton over Rutgers, Yale over Connecticut, B. C. over Brandeis, Bucknell over Albright and Lafayette over Muhlenberg.

The Midwest
Notre Dame over SMU-Rocky decided Ezzard Charles.
Michigan over Missouri—Charles defeated Moore thrice.
Ohio State over Nebraska — Charles KO'd Moore, too.
Minnesota over Washington—No great recommendation.
Purdue over COP — And, darling, he is growing older.
Also: Michigan State over Indiana, Iowa over Kansas State, Washington State over Kansas, Wisconsin over Marquette, Colorado over Arizona, Dayton over Cincinnati and Detroit over Toledo.

The West
Illinois over California — Archie would be the oldest champ.
Stanford over Oregon State — He's 38, at least.
USC over Oregon—Rocky is 31, for sure.
Utah over Idaho—Quite an edge.
Also: Wyoming over Montana, Colorado Aggies over New Mexico, Denver over Drake and Brigham Young over Los Angeles State.

The South
Georgia Tech over Florida—You gotta have heart.
Oklahoma over North Carolina—Archie must have two.
Mississippi over Kentucky—Last year he had a bad one.
Duke over NS State—Now he has a good one.
Georgia over Vanderbilt — It is hoped.
Also: Auburn over Chattanooga, Mississippi State over Tennessee, Clemson over Virginia, West Virginia over Richmond, South Carolina over Wake Forest, Citadel over Elon and VMI over George Washington.

The Southwest
Alabama over Rice — The blue-plate special.
Texas Tech over TCU — Archie should be so lucky.
LSU over Texas Aggies — I like Rocky, big.
Texas over Tulane—Which is a real kiss of death.
Also: Arkansas over Oklahoma Aggies and Tulsa over Hardin-Simmons.

Relentless Yankees Can Clinch Tie for Pennant But No Kayo Until Friday

By United Press
The Cleveland Indians had just one edge on Archie Moore today as both awaited the inevitable—the New York Yankees can't beat Rocky Marciano to the knockout punch.

All the relentless Yankees can do tonight is clinch a tie for the American league title. They'll do that if they beat the Washington Senators a third straight time and the Indians lose to the Chicago White Sox. But they can't deliver the kayo blow until at least Friday.

The Indians made certain of that Tuesday night when they snapped a four-game losing streak with a "back-to-the-wall" 3-2 triumph over the White Sox. The victory did little more than prolong the agony, however, as the Yankees beat the Senators, 6-3 and 9-7, in a day-night doubleheader and went 2-1-2 games ahead of the tribe.

As a result any combination of Yankee victories and Cleveland losses totaling three will clinch Casey Stengel's sixth flag in seven years. The Yankees have five games left while the Indians have four.

Early Wynn yielded 10 hits but stranded 11 White Sox batters and pitched his way out of a ninth-inning threat to win his 17th game of the year.

Bobby Avila, the AL's 1954 batting champion, struck the big blow for the Indians—a two-run triple in the eighth inning that snapped a 1-1 deadlock.

The Yankees' nightcap victory—mathematically knocked the White Sox out of the race.

Baltimore Beats Boston
The Baltimore Orioles beat the Boston Red Sox, 3-2 and 7-4, to move the Senators into seventh place and the Detroit Tigers downed the Kansas City Athletics, 7-3, in other American league action.

In the National league, Willie Mays hit his 49th and 50th homers as the New York Giants walloped the Pittsburgh Pirates, 11-1 and 14-8. Mays, who leads Ted Kluszewski by five homers in their race, has tied a mark by hitting seven homers in six games and needs one more round-tripper to equal Johnny Mize's club record established in 1947.

The champion Brooklyn Dodgers beat the Philadelphia Phillies, 6-3 and 6-1; Lew Burdette tossed a six-hitter as the Milwaukee Braves beat the Cincinnati Redlegs, 7-0, and the St. Louis Cardinals got five-hit pitching from Ben Flowers and Harvey Haddix to down the Chicago Cubs, 2-0, in other NL games.

Bill Zimmer Is Named Line Coach at Bradley

Bill Zimmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Zimmer of this city, and former All-Missouri Valley Conference tackle, will return to Bradley university at Peoria this season as line coach.

University officials announced Tuesday that Zimmer had been assigned to aid head coach Billy Stone in his first season at Bradley. Zimmer, a former star tackle at Bradley, won the Missouri Valley honors in 1951, and later played two years at Fort Carson, Colo., while in Army service. He also was a star tackle at the Harrisburg Township high school before going to Bradley.

He will work on his master's degree in education this year also while coaching at Bradley.

Eliot Shows No Optimism for California Tilt

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — "California has worked out its first game mistakes; we've still got ours ahead." That was Illinois Coach Ray Eliot's observation Monday as he began final preparations for the Illini opener against the Bears at Berkeley Saturday.

"California played a better game against Pittsburgh last week end than the story indicated," Eliot said. The Bears, beaten 27-7, collapsed in the final quarter after playing a 7-7 tie for the first three periods.

Eliot had no more basis for optimism Monday than did California Coach Lynn Waldorf. While the Bears were losing at Pittsburgh, Illini first and second teams had trouble licking the reserves 34-28 in a dull scrimmage at Champaign.

"Apparently California had the same trouble Saturday as we did," Eliot remarked. "They couldn't stand the heat."

"I believe our boys were a bit tired after over two weeks of double practice sessions. They definitely were not at their best in that Saturday workout."

One bright note in the Illini camp was the absence of any serious new injuries. Halfbacks Bobby Graeff and "Bud" Spence, fullbacks Dan Wile and Jack Gordy, tackle Dick Miller, and center Larry Pasko are nursing minor injuries, but all will be ready to go Saturday.

The squad went through a light workout Monday, reviewing offensive and defensive assignments. A full-scale scrimmage was scheduled for Tuesday afternoon, followed by additional contact work Wednesday. Light drills were scheduled for Thursday morning, prior to departure for the West Coast, and in California Friday afternoon.

Illinois Backfield Coach Chuck Purvis, who scouted the Bears in their inaugural at Pittsburgh, reported that Coach Waldorf has a basically sound football team.

"California was tough on defense near its goal line," Purvis said. "While the team made mistakes offensively, I believe that they can be ironed out before next Saturday."

"California was in the ball game all the way until the last quarter. I think the intense heat and humidity tired the players."

Purvis reported that Waldorf substituted liberally and that he now should have a better idea of the abilities of his players.

"It was a typical first game," Purvis said. "I think California looked good until the last quarter."

"Their left guard, Don Gilkey, is a very good boy. I liked Jim Carmichael, an end, and their quarterbacking impressed me. Hugh Maquire, the starting quarterback, passed 30-yards for the California touchdown."

Rochester and Minneapolis Open Series Tonight

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—A capacity crowd of about 13,000 is expected to be on hand tonight when the Rochester Red Wings, International league playoff champions, meet the Minneapolis Millers, American Association champions, in the opening game of the best-of-seven Little World Series.

The Red Wings, a St. Louis Cardinals' affiliate, finished fourth in the regular season play behind Montreal, Toronto and Havana, but came to life in the playoffs, sweeping seven of eight games.

The Millers, a New York Giants farm club, won the regular American Association pennant and then won all eight starts in the playoffs.

State Forester Warns of Fire Danger in Area

BENTON, Ill. (AP)—State forester Max Lane warned today that the current drought has killed vegetation and greatly increased the forest fire danger in southern Illinois.

Lane, head of southern Illinois state forestry headquarters here, said fire danger this week is the worst since last summer.

Lane said forestry department men and volunteers fought several bad fires this week. One burned 300 acres east of Johnston City Tuesday. Others destroyed 55 acres south of Thompsonville Monday and 50 acres near here Tuesday.

Lane said spotty showers fell in this area Tuesday night and temporarily lessened the fire danger here. But he said southern Illinois needs a soaking rain to make woods and fields safe.

Time to Stop Making Political Football Out of Farm Prices, Sen. Dirksen Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Everett M. Dirksen said Tuesday that "it is time to stop making a political football out of farm prices."

The Illinois Republican said he is sure Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson will come up with worthwhile recommendations for stabilizing falling farm prices. Then, Dirksen said, Congress should "sit down and work out a program that will endure."

Dirksen said the present farm price decline requires that everything possible be done to cut down the surpluses "accumulated under the fixed level support program" and to gear production to need.

Even as Dirksen made his statements in an interview the political storm over farm prices intensified. Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) criticized ed last Saturday's Wabash, Ind., speech by Vice President Richard M. Nixon in which Nixon defended President Eisenhower against Democratic charges of breaking farm pledges made in the 1952 campaign.

Morse told newsmen Nixon's speech was "chaff" which the nation's farmers will not mistake for "nutritious hay."

"Nixon's speech was nothing more than warmed-over political hokey that Eisenhower tried to feed the farmers in his Kasson, Minn., speech during the campaign," Morse said.

Benson, meanwhile, continued his speaking tour in behalf of administration farm policies. In a speech today at Houston, Tex., he charged the Democrats left the administration a "neat package of

Bloomington Voters Approve School Bond Issue, Hike in Rates

BLOOMINGTON, Ill. (AP)—Voters passed by a narrow majority a $2,900,000 school bond issue and a 12-cent hike in the school tax rate Tuesday.

A total of 8,000 votes were cast, exceeding by about 500 the previous mark set last March when similar proposals failed to pass a referendum.

This time the issues passed by about 350 votes each.

The income from the bond issue carefully fused bombs" on the farm front and are now "blaming us (the Republicans) for the explosion."

will be used to finance the construction of a new high school and two elementary schools. The new tax rate here will be $1.38 per $100 assessed valuation.

Soviets Give E. Germans Control Of Berlin Traffic

BERLIN (AP)—East German Premier Otto Grotewohl flew home from Moscow today with a "state treaty" granting his Communist regime full independence and control over the arteries linking Berlin to the West.

Whether the Communists would clamp down on traffic immediately was not known. Party boss Walter Ulbricht implied this when he said the Reds may put new difficulties in the way of Berlin bound traffic if the West "continues or steps up the cold war." Russia granted its German satellite "full independence" in a move aimed at perpetuating its power and putting it on a par with newly sovereign West Germany.

The East Zone government's new powers include the right to raise its own army which it already has and to control traffic over the land and water routes to Berlin.

Grotewohl negotiated his treaty just two days after West Germany's Chancellor Konrad Adenauer left Moscow with an agreement to establish diplomatic relations between West Germany and the Soviet Union.

Grotewohl said before leaving Moscow that the East German-Soviet talks opened a "new epoch" and will be of "great future importance" for all of Germany.

Four Immunization Clinics Will Be Held in Schools Next Week

Every Harrisburg parent is reminded that the finest type of communicable disease control is obtained by following the recommendations of the family physician regarding immunizations. That is, taking his child or children at regular intervals for protection against such diseases as diphtheria, whooping cough, tetanus, typhoid etc.

However, since many families do not follow such a routine for various reasons the school health program under the guidance of local doctors offer each fall and spring clinics which help in maintaining good community health. No child is permitted at any time to take part in the school program without the approval of his parent or guardian in the form of a written consent. The school makes individual recommendations influenced by rules set up by the Medical Advisory committee and the child's past immunizations according to school records. The parent makes the final decision regarding participation.

Parents please note that pre-schoolers will share in only two of the four scheduled clinics next week.

Clinics are planned for the following dates, time and schools:

Monday, Sept. 26, 1 p. m. DPT series and boosters, and tetanus toxoid series and boosters at McKinley for McKinley only. No pre-schoolers.

Tuesday, Sept. 27, 1 p. m. DPT series and boosters, and tetanus toxoid series and boosters at Bayliss for Bayliss, Liberty and Dorris Heights. Pre-schoolers invited.

Wednesday, Sept. 28, 1 p. m. DPT series and boosters, and tetanus toxoid series and boosters at Logan for Logan. Also tetanus toxoid series will be given to Junior high pupils. Pre-schoolers invited.

There will be no clinic on Thursday.

Friday, Sept. 30, 1 p. m. DPT series and boosters, and tetanus toxoid series and boosters at Horace Mann for Horace Mann only. No pre-schoolers.

Dates for October and November clinics will be announced later. There will be no make-up clinics. There will be the two scheduled opportunities for pre-schoolers in September with one clinic in October and one clinic in November so any parent wishing to get the DPT series for his pre-school child may do so.

Offer Immediate Job Opportunities At Exams Saturday

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — Immediate employment opportunities are available to persons who qualify on examinations to be held Saturday, Sept. 24, at Harrisburg Township high school by the Illinois Civil Service Commission.

The commission said that vacancies exist for 60 attendants at Elgin State hospital and that Lincoln State school needs 40 additional attendants. Because hours of work per week for attendants at these institutions are being shortened, there is a greatly increased demand for personnel.

A representative of the Illinois Department of Public Welfare will be present to interview and offer immediate placement to successful candidates.

Tests also will be held for cottage parents, guards and wardens. Maintenance, which includes housing, food, personal laundry, and emergency medical care, may be purchased by attendants at a nominal cost of $38 per month. In addition to the low cost of living, attendants receive numerous other benefits, including good starting salaries, paid vacations, sick leave and liberal retirement provisions, the commission said.

Persons interested in these tests should report to the Harrisburg high school at 9 a. m. Saturday. Further information may be obtained by writing the Illinois Civil Service Commission, 501 Armory Building, Springfield, or from local offices of the State Employment Service.

Name Committees For Oil Meeting At Lawrenceville

T. M. Egan, committee general chairman, announced the appointment of other committees to serve for the annual mid-year summer meeting for oil men and their friends. The meeting is scheduled for Sept. 23 at the Lawrenceville Country club.

Mr. Egan said he expects 500 to 600 to attend the all day meeting devoted almost entirely to golf, swimming, horseshoes and other outdoor events.

Egan said that the affair was a joint meeting of the IPAA Associations of Illinois, Indiana and Kentucky and the Independent Oil Producers and Land Owners association.

On the general committee with Egan are R. W. Portis and John R. Lavens Jr. of Evansville, Guy McGaughey, Lawrenceville, V. O. Sims, Owensboro, and C. R. Collins of Mt. Vernon.

Peron, Ousted Argentine Leader, Got Political Ideas from Mussolini

By THOMAS R. CURRAN
United Press Staff Correspondent

Juan D. Peron picked up many of his political ideas from Benito Mussolini.

He liked to make speeches from a balcony to his followers massed in the street below. Peron watched Mussolini in action when he was Argentine military attaché in Rome. He listened and learned. He became a politician in uniform.

Like Mussolini, Peron is a great talker, and he had a knack of telling his listeners exactly what he thought they wanted to hear. Once when Guy Ray, U. S. counselor to Argentina, reproached him for an anti-American speech Peron said: "You must always keep in mind the people I'm talking to."

A Way With Businessmen

Peron is handsome in a florid way. In recent years he kept his hair jet-black by the use of dye. He is husky in build, tending to pudginess in middle age.

He is a sports enthusiast. During his student days he had been an outstanding boxer and swordsman and when he took over Argentina he sponsored everything that favored the development of sports in the schools.

Whenever visiting American businessmen called on Peron he had a set speech for them. First he thanked them for giving him some of their valuable time. Then he said he didn't want to meddle in the internal affairs of other countries, but he would like to suggest that the United States quit making overly generous loans to Latin American countries.

"If the United States lends them millions of dollars," Peron would say, "these South American countries lose incentive to produce wealth for themselves. Quit lending them money! Make them go to work themselves!"

The average business man from the United States thought that was very sound, indeed, and was inclined to consider Peron a misunderstood or misrepresented figure. What was overlooked was that Peron himself had got a 125-million-dollar loan from Uncle Sam in 1951 although he insisted it was not a loan but a "credit."

No Free Press

Peron had absolutely no conception of a free press. He knew that after he had confiscated the great independent newspaper La Prensa nothing was printed in Argentina that was contrary to his wishes. He couldn't understand why the same thing wasn't true elsewhere.

One U. S. ambassador after another would be met with Peron's request to "do something" about the unfriendly attitude of the American newspapers toward his regime. He couldn't believe that Washington couldn't change the editorial policy of the leading U. S. newspapers if it really wanted to.

Peron was very skillful at playing off opposing elements against each other and eventually liquidating both. His entrance on the political scene was due to the revolution of the Argentine army in 1943. But despite that he set out to do everything he could to cut down the power of the army. The big Campo de Mayo just outside Buenos Aires was reduced sharply in number of detachments and armament. The naval air base at Punta del Indio rarely had enough gasoline to mount a full scale attack against the capital city. He limited the number of cannon, machine guns, trucks and tanks assigned to the various regiments. Also he screened carefully the officers and set up an elaborate spy system to watch over them.

Communists Gained Strength
I had a dozen or so talks with Peron during the time I was assigned to Buenos Aires. On most of the visits I found him smiling and amiable and trying to convince me that he was a great lover of the United States. He also insisted he was strongly anti-Communist. He would make references to the strength of the Communists in Brazil and Chile and then point out that in Argentina he had cut down their force to almost nothing. "Actually, the Communists gained in strength under Peron because his campaigns of promoting class hatred fitted perfectly into their strategy," he told me last year that he had weakened the Communist party "not with my speeches but by giving them something." By that he referred to the wave of pay increases he put through by government decree which had won the votes of the workers.

Many people in the United States had the idea that Evita, Peron's vigorous wife who died three years ago, was the more dominant personality of the two. I do not agree. I think that she had great influence over Peron, but I also think that he used her for his own purposes — often to do dirty work he didn't want to take the responsibility for himself.

Ruined Argentine Economy

Peron's regime wrecked the economy of the country, spending all that had been accumulated before he took over and all the income during his administration. If rumors are correct, much of the deposits placed in the pension fund for the future also were spent. First through his brother-in-law and later through his brother-in-law's associate, Jorge Antonio, Peron was supposed to be in on the pay-offs of almost all the important business done by the Argentine state. Diesel locomotives could not be bought for the railroads which Peron nationalized.

Frozen meat could not be sold to Peru or carpet wool to the United States without Peron getting some share of the take. He is supposed to have a large fortune staked away in Switzerland.

High School Journalists to Meet at SIU

CARBONDALE, Ill. — Dr. James L. C. Ford, former dean of the School of Journalism at Montana State university and newly appointed to the journalism department faculty at Southern Illinois university, will be the lead-off speaker Saturday, Sept. 24, when some 300 high school journalists meet at Southern Illinois university.

The all-day convention program of the Southern Illinois High School Press association will include eight panel discussions and a luncheon. Robert L. Burnes, sports editor of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, will be the luncheon speaker.

Also on the program will be Dr. H. R. Long, chairman of the SIU journalism department, and two new department faculty members, D. Wayne Rowland and Donald G. Hileman.

The convention will begin with registration at 8 a. m. and will close following afternoon panel discussions.

Exploiting Fame

Editorial — By BRUCE BLOSSAT
It is one of the wonders of America that a person may be plucked from obscurity and lifted to fame. It happens in many arenas of American life. For instance, on the baseball field where once-shoeless lads from the hill country hear the cheers of city crowds in their ears. On the movie lots, where former waitresses can and do win Academy awards. Or, now, on television.

Sometimes the fame is fleeting, sometimes enduring. Nowhere else in the world does it seem to come so often to so many, with such surprise. It is a mark of the buoyancy and flowing quality of American life.

Yet, for all of this, there is danger in it, too. Not just for the individual, whose character may not always be sturdy enough to withstand the buffeting of fame. There may be danger for everyone.

Of late we have shown a too great tendency to endow our individual successes with a slick, promotional, stunt-like quality that cheapens and can corrupt.

Take the case of Gino Prato, the humble little Bronx shoemaker who won $32,000 on TV answering questions about opera. In his several appearances on TV, Gino won the hearts of millions of viewers by his gentle, modest sincerity.

If he is the man he seemed to be, he will hold to those qualities. But in the light of what is happening to him, it will not be easy. For example:

One of his fondest wishes was to return to Italy to see his 92-year-old father. He got that wish. But the weekend given him must have shaken him a bit.

A famous restaurant tossed a big affair with Gino as guest of honor. Then a contingent of white station wagons, representing a firm that soon will begin exploiting Gino's new-found fame, escorted him to the airport. At the restaurant, an airline and one other outfit had exhibits plugging their products and services.

When Gino gets back from seeing his aged papa, he's got a spot with a well-known TV singer. Who knows what may follow thereafter? To the mere observer, it looks as if a lot of people have decided that Gino's sincerity is a salable article, and they mean to have a piece of it. But it really isn't divisible. Probably Gino will understand that it must be kept whole to be real.

That's something that many more of us ought to appreciate, if we are not to see sincerity promoted right off the face of the U. S. map. You can't make a slick production out of a human being's innermost qualities.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

(DREW PEARSON Says: State Dept. Not Much Help On Check-Up Of American Brokers' Sales Of Arms To Other Nations) Suppression Of Information Began During Spanish Civil War In '35; Greek-Turk Blow-Up Brewing Over Cyprus.

WASHINGTON. — Correspondence on arms is continuing between the Egyptian embassy and the Phoenix International company whose sales slogan is "implements of War Our Specialty." Meanwhile, this column has queried the State Department in some detail as to why the American public is not permitted to know what arms are being sold by private brokers to stir up war in the Middle East.

Robert N. Margrave, deputy director of the State Department's Office of Munitions Control, was not very enlightening.

"The last time that information was made available to the public was in 1941," said Margrave. "Within this government those figures are treated as classified."

"What do you mean 'treated' as classified? Are the figures classified or do you just 'treat' them as classified?"

Margrave gave a long and complicated explanation about the necessity of protecting private companies. He finally said, however, that the State Department's office of Munitions Control reports to Congress and that Congress can publish the figures if it wishes.

"There has been no change in this policy since about 1790," said Margrave. "This government has always regarded any shipment of arms to be fraught with political significance."

"How long has the classification policy been in effect?"

"Since 1935."

"You mean since 1935 the State Department has denied the press access to figures on arms shipments, even though the State Department has the power to control such shipments in a manner approaching intervention in foreign disputes?"

Replied Margrave: "We prefer a positive way of stating it. It has been privileged information since 1935."

Note — The suppression of information regarding arms shipments began during the Spanish civil war in 1935 when shipments were made to revolutionaries seeking to overthrow the Spanish government—namely, Franco. At that time the State Department sided with Franco and did not want news of arms shipments made public.

CHEESE STILL SMELLS
It has now been several weeks since the comptroller general ruled that Secretary Benson's cheese deal was illegal. However, the Agriculture Department is still sitting tight and has not taken a single step to recover the $2,500,000 lost by Uncle Sam to the big cheese manufacturers.

Meanwhile, Congressman L. H. Fountain of North Carolina is getting madder by the minute, and may appeal to public opinion to force Secretary of Agriculture Benson to act.

He has now learned that the purchase and resale of cheese was first proposed to the House Agriculture committee on March 19, 1954, by a top Borden official named W. A. Wentworth. Agriculture Department lawyers immediately considered Wentworth's idea, but decided it was illegal. The Justice Department also found the Wentworth plan illegal.

Nevertheless, within a few days, the Agriculture Department went ahead anyway and adopted Plan DA1112, under which they bought the cheese. This was almost identical to the Wentworth plan.

Congressman Fountain may hold new hearings to discover whether the Department of Agriculture's action in overruling its own lawyers and the Justice Department was influenced by two cheese-industry men who were members of Secretary Benson's Cheese Advisory Council. They were Daniel M. Dent of Borden and Arthur W. Sigmund of Kraft.

MEDITERRANEAN WAR
A potentially ugly blow-up is brewing in the Mediterranean as Greece and Turkey, both allied in the western-Balkan pact, exchange insults over the future of the island of Cyprus.

This situation has been permitted to drift until both countries are at each other's throats threatening to renew their historic hatred and

Easy Credit Can Be Tough, Expert Advises Car Buyers

PEORIA, Ill. — Economist Thomas W. Rogers told car buyers Monday night that "easy credit terms can be tough."

Rogers, executive vice-president of the American Finance Conference, said car buyers would be wiser to seek the shortest terms possible "in their own best interests."

Speaking to a meeting of the Illinois Automotive Trade Assn., Rogers gave these tips to the 65 per cent of the American public that buys cars on time:

1. "Make the largest down payment possible within your income so as to establish equity greater than the normal declining value of the car."

2. "Enter contracts for the least rather than the greatest number of months so that you may acquire full ownership in the shortest possible time and thus avoid unnecessary money charges."

Different Sort of End From What Imagined

STILLWATER, Minn. — Sheriff Reuben Granquist's phone rang at 4 a. m. and a woman's voice announced "I can't take it any more; this is the end."

Granquist stalled the woman along with small talk, trying to collect his wits and find a way to avert a suicide. Finally, he asked her what was troubling her.

"There are two skunks in my basement and I wish you would get them out," the woman said. A game warden disposed of the skunks.

Home Foreclosure Rate Stays Low

CHICAGO — — Home foreclosures continue at a low rate, reflecting the nation's prosperity. The United States Savings and Loan League reported that in 1954, for the tenth straight year, the ratio of foreclosures to the number of new home mortgages ran below one per cent.

"There's no better testimonial to the state of health of the nation's economy than the current exceedingly low rate of home foreclosures," said J. Howard Edgerton, president of the league.

The 1954 total of 26,000 foreclosures was near the record low, he said. It was .75 per cent of the 3,450,000 mortgages recorded during the year.

The total foreclosures compared to 21,400 in 1953, or .68 per cent of mortgages recorded.

Howell Dean Colbert Wins Second Place in TV Talent Contest

Howell Dean Colbert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emmitt Colbert, RFD 2, Harrisburg, was second place winner on the talent contest "Stairway to the Stars" on the television show on station WEHT Henderson and Evansville, Saturday, Sept. 17.

The judging was done by applause meter. Howell Dean is a pupil of the Marlin Dance Studio and has been taking dancing four years.

"This indicates not only the limited extent of the recession, but also that today's home loan contract is a far more flexible instrument than in pre-depression days."

XXVII Tom McLowry had tailed like over to the courthouse, met him coming out, and footloose it across the vacant lots behind the south-side buildings to spread the news ahead of him. Ducking in the back door of Becknell's Hardware, he came sprinting out the front. He bumped into a large, well-dressed citizen passing on his afternoon stroll. He didn't bump worth a hoot. Fact was, he resented Tom's rudeness. Took it so to heart he called him awkward and discourteous.

Tom was not the one you used such language on in vain. He came around reaching for the six-guns draw. Now he had them backed into their last corral and was asking only that Tombstone stand back and give him and his brothers fighting room to finish it once and for all.

"You won't see it any other way, then," he said at last and low-voiced.

"No, John. Me and Virgil and Morgan will go it alone. We'll go right now."

"You may go right now," said Doc Holliday, moving out of the rear corner gloom into the sunlight of the front window, "but I reckon you won't go alone."

(To Be Continued)

Frank McLowry was in the Crystal Palace sharing an afternoon cup with Sheriff Johnny Behan. He had two guns on and his coat off.

Wyatt stuck his head in through the cut-glass doors and advised whoever owned the sockfoot bay more out front to get her off the sidewalk. She was blocking traffic and breaking the law.

Frank stood away from the bar. They still tell it around Tombstone that Frank came out of the Palace flashing his big draw back of big talk. And that Wyatt stepped right in and buffaloed him.

Now, nobody buffaloed Frank McLowry's kind when he's got his guns out. Not Wyatt nor anybody else. But there never was any buffaloing to it. The fact was that Wyatt had that staggered-off shotgun pinned on Frank's belly all the way across the Palace bar, room and right out into Allen Street. When Frank pulled his face swager to wind up with his long Wyatt's, he wasn't putting on a show for anybody but the early afternoon customers.

And Wyatt knew it. He patted the twin tubes, grinned, shrugged his big shoulders, let the muzzle bores steady down on Frank's middle shirt button. "I'll play these," he said. "Pair of twelves with a buckshot kicker. What you got?"

Frank folded. He was a gun-fighter, not a fool. Wyatt took the gunbelt and draped it over his right shoulder to balance the hang of Tom's outfit across his left. He watched Frank move the mare, then stride, blackface mad, across the street and into Spangenberg's Gun Shop.

They say his coatfalls were really flapping when Mayor Clum tore into Johnny Behan's office 10 minutes after the Clanton was turned loose. His indignant demand for action from the Cochise County sheriff was answered by Behan's declaration that he had already disarmed "the boys" and that they were right then on their way to the O. K. Corral to pick up their horses and clear out.

This was news to Clum. "Why, I just saw the lot of them coming out of Spangenberg's!" he protested. "Every man of them had a gun on him!"

The sheriff turned up his hands. "I did what I could, John. There's no law against buying a new gun."

"Then those hoodlums have no idea of leaving town and you know it!" snapped the little mayor angrily.

"I only know what they told me."

"Sheriff Behan," said Clum, dropping his voice and letting it come formal and straight. "I'm asking you to do your duty, arrest those men. I will back you on it and the Committee posse will back me. I can have 30 men here inside of 10 minutes."

Johnny Behan waited until he was out of sight before stepping swiftly out the door and across Freemont Street toward the O. K. Corral.

For the second time in 24 hours Wyatt turned Clum and his offer of Safety Committee backing flat down. Clum saw the way it was.

He had had his Citizen's Safety Committee posse long before the Earps came to Tombstone. It had been helpless in its clumsy lead-erless way even to slow the rustling and stage-robbing down, let alone stop them. Yet, in a few swift months, first all alone, then with Virgil and finally Morgan and Doc Holliday to help him, Wyatt had fought the outlaws to a dead

Highlights in Peron's Career

By United Press Highlights in the career of Juan Domingo Peron:

Born in a village 60 miles from Buenos Aires on Oct. 8, 1895, the son of Juana Sosa Toledo, a farm girl who worked in the fields, and Mario Tomas Peron, a court official in the village.

In 1903 left home to be educated by his grandmother in and near Buenos Aires.

Entered the Argentine military college at 15. Was good at sports, especially boxing and fencing. Was graduated at 17 as a second lieutenant.

As a young officer, had his first contact with the laborers he was later to lead. Led troops to break up a strike of 5,000 men.

Was graduated from the Campo de Mayo officers school in 1925. Assigned to the general staff and later served as professor of military history in the Superior War College. Became an admirer of Napoleon.

As a captain, married Maria Tizon, a photographer's daughter. She died of cancer after seven years, leaving him a daughter.

Became an aide in the War Ministry, served as military attaché to Chile, and was sent to Italy to study the military tactics and economic policies of Mussolini's fascists.

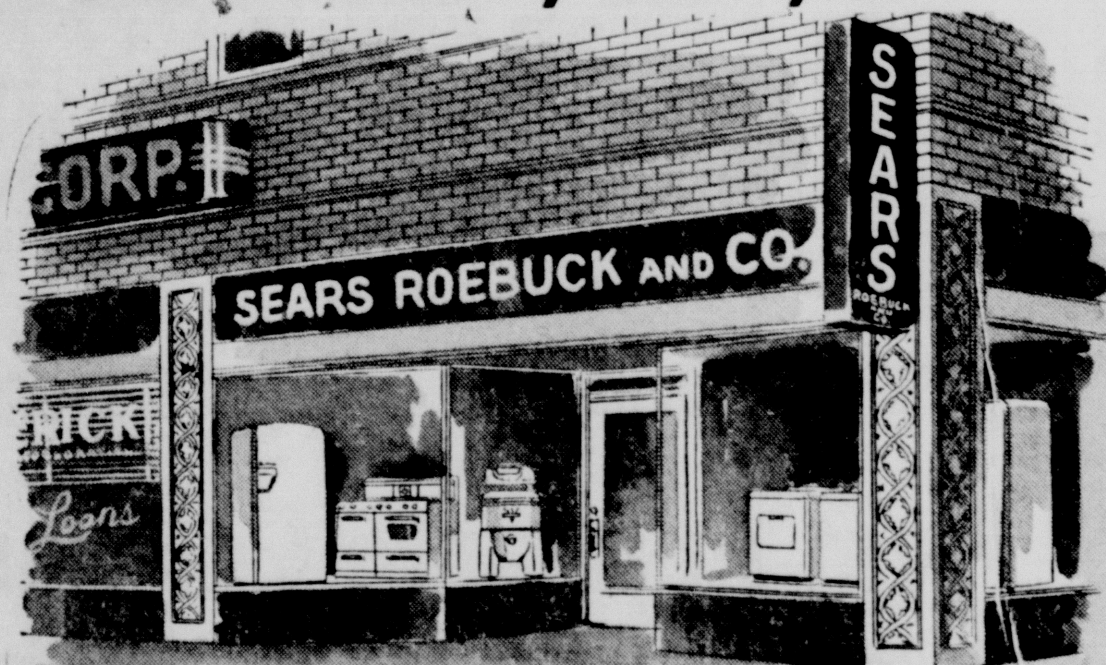

Joined the officers who overthrow President Ramon S. Castillo.

The word "horsepower" was originated by James Watt when he determined how much coal a horse could draw in a minute from a coal pit. The horse could move 33,000 pounds of coal one foot upward
